the riff (a hipster's life)

He was hip. He was some kind of genius. This Cat was such an outgenius that the thing he was a genius at hadn't been invented yet.

“a spliff bunker is something I realized was a great thing, because you can't have a load of idiots running around partying in the control room because the engineer can't hear and no decisions can be made.

“So I invented the spliff bunker, which was like a place you could smoke weed and hang out and talk out in the main body of the studio - where we could come up with our next thing. As soon as they got a rough mix done we were like ‘fresh tape on the reel lets get the mics out’ and we kept doing that day and night.”

- Joe Strummer on the recording of ‘Sandinista!’
